

F&D Discovery H50 : Professional stereo headphone for an extraordinary listening experience

After storming the headphone segment with its debut, Discovery H30, Fenda Audio, a leading player in the Music & Audio category since 2004, now rolls out another innovation in the same segment, F&D Discovery H50.

Carefully designed to appeal to the style conscious and generation next, Discovery H50 comprises a finely stitched genuine leather outer headband that ensures durability of the headphones. If you are the kind who prefers rough and tough usage of electronic accessories and enjoys good sound, Discovery H50 has to be your pick.

Comfort to the consumer while listening to the soul stirring music is the foremost objective of this headphone. The adjustable inner headband covered in soft finishing puts a tick mark on this aspect. Not to forget, the soft touch ear pads add to the unruffled experience.

Discovery H50 patented acoustic chamber design creates authentic and superior sound performance. This professional stereo headphone promises precision and sound detail, thanks to its double-layered ear-shells that reduces resonance and vibration. The semi-open back architecture of Discovery H50 lends the listener some impactful bass reproduction and also prevents sound leakage.

Enhancing user experience and accessibility, the headphone comes with a 3mm gold plated jack which compatible with Mobile phones, iPods, MP3 players, iPads, Laptops and PCs.

Commenting on the introduction of Discovery H50, Managing Director of F&D said, “After marking our entry into the headphone segment, this is a level up for our customers; an accessory that’s a must have in every music lover’s bag. We at Fenda Audio believe in quality, perfection, clarity and importantly, comfortable user experience. Our expert team has yet again delivered this exceptional stereo headphone”.

A perfect pick for every artist, Fenda Audio’s latest technological marvel, Discovery H50 is priced at Rs 3990/- .
